The Campaign for North Bay Children's Center

The New C Street Campus

Project Scope: A state-of-the-art children's center and learning lab for Marin and Sonoma counties

When fully operational, The C Street campus will include a new 19,824 sf building that would house its early education classrooms, childcare facilities, and administrative offices. Improvements to the grounds include an expanded Garden of Eatin'® outdoor learning lab and tasting garden, outdoor playgrounds and play spaces, a community teaching garden, enhanced teacher training facilities and family gathering areas.

- Eight self-sufficient classrooms allowing NBCC to serve double its capacity in Novato, for a total of 176 kids
- New multi-use space for family and community activities, teacher trainings, literacy events, and community gatherings
- Fully-equipped, modernized kitchen prepares healthy, nutritious meals daily: breakfast, lunch and snack for every child
- Weekly activities in an expanded Garden of Eatin'® learning lab that teaches kids what you eat is as important as knowing one's letters and numbers
- Flexible and confidential work rooms for special projects, collaborations, parent conferences and remote staff
